MIDD AGAIN TRIMS NORWICH QUINTET

Cadet Five Defeated at Northfield 35-29

Capt. Miske Stars—Game Slowed Up By Rough Playing Of Both Teams

Middlebury's varsity basketball five defeated the Norwich University quintet for the second time this year by the close score of 35-29 Friday evening in Armory Hall, Northfield. On their own court the cadet five made a much better showing than in the first encounter, three weeks ago. Superior weight in addition to being accustomed to the crowded court gave them a potential advantage over the wearers of the Blue and White in the early stages of the game which was only overcome by the better team-work of Capt. Miske's men. From beginning to end the game was characterized by rough playing as indicated by the numerous fouls which were called on both teams.

Due to the lateness of the arrival of the train which carried them to Northfield, Midd's representatives did not arrive at their destination until after the game was scheduled to commence but notwithstanding this inconvenience the men were on the floor within 30 minutes. Capt Miske's playing was easily his best during the present season. His passing and general floor-work evoked much well-merited applause from the 300 odd spectators who filled the hall. Tatro, at the center position, was also seen at a good advantage throughout the game.

Norwich started off in a whirlwind fashion, jumping into the lead immediately after Tatro had scored two baskets in the early moments of the game. Midd rallied just before the close of the period, cutting down her opponents' lead of 10 points and tying with them at 18 when the half ended.

Middlebury was seen in her best form in the final period, her superior teamwork and basket-shooting enabling her to run up a substantial lead. Midd followed the ball more closely than did the Norwich men and forced the playing throughout the half. In the last minutes of play Middlebury's lead was momentarily threatened by a feeble attempt on the part of the Norwich team to "come back". The close guarding of Ross and Jones, however, spoiled the attempt.

INTER-SCHOLASTIC TRACK MEET TO BE HELD ON PORTER FIELD JUNIOR WEEK

Prep and High Schools Thruout New England Invited to Attend Gala Event, May 2

Large Number Of Entries Expected—Men Will Be Entertained By The College And Fraternities—Plans Being Made For Interesting Junior Week

Enthusiasm ran high on the hill when Dr. Collins announced that the college authorities had sanctioned the proposed Inter-scholastic track meet for Junior Week and had appropriated $525 to carry out the plan. This attraction to the Junior Week program should make it the best gala week that Middlebury has ever known and should be a big boost for Middlebury in the scholastic world.

Coach Brown and Manager Holbrook are working to make the meet a success and hope to have at least a hundred entries for the long list of events. The meet is opened to all prep and high schools thruout New England and keen competition is promised. The meet will be held on Porter Field Friday morning, May 2, with preliminaries for a number of the events on Thursday. The events will include the 100 yard dash, 220, 440, 880, mile, two mile, 220 low hurdles, high hurdles, 1 mile relay, running high jump, running broad jump pole vault, hammer throw, shot-put and discus.

A number of medals have been purchased and three prizes will be offered for each event. Gold for first, silver for second and bronze for third. In addition two cups are offered to the competitors. One will be awarded to the team winning the meet, another to the winners of the mile relay while a special medal will be awarded to the individual star of the meet.

The college has kindly offered one of its dormitories to house the participants and they will be the guests of the college and junior class thruout their stay. Numerous interesting events are being arranged by the Junior Week Committee including two varsity baseball games, a dual track meet, Glee Club concert, Sophomore-Freshman Hat Scrap,Junior Play, and the top-notch event the Prom.

All entries must be in by April 20 and should be addressed to Manager Holbrook. The entry fee is twenty-five cents per event and a man is eligible to enter as many events as he wishes. First class timers will be on hand to catch any records and records made during the trial heats will stand.

With everybody pulling together it is bound to be a success. The entire college, including the alumni, faculty and student body, is behind the work.

FINANCIAL SYSTEM OF UNION TO BE PUT ON FIRM BASIS

The Athletic Council was severely criticised at the Union Meeting held in Hepburn social hall last Wednesday evening. The advisability of taking the election of managers for the various athletic teams out of the hands of the council and giving this power to the Union, was considered.

A lively discussion was held on this subject, there being a feeling that "politics" are playing too important a part in the election of managers. A committee consisting of D. Mead, Shepardson and Breen was appointed to investigate these complaints and to make suggestions at the next meeting of the Union.

A very small number of men were present but these managed to keep the meeting in a lively condition. Shepardson was unanimously elected as the Delta Kappa Epsilon representative to the student council.

Following a report of the Social Committee, the management of the informal dances was criticised by Watson representing the Student Council. He recommended that tickets be used hereafter for admission and that these be sold at the door by a representative of the Union. This recommendation was accepted, it being decided that hereafter the Student Council and the Social Committee shall be in charge of the informal dances. Nothing was said about a ticket system for basketball however.

The resignation of Furber as Cheerleader was read but those present did not seem in favor of its acceptance.

An effort was made to open the old Union Room in Painter Hall. This place is now being occupied by Captain Ferguson in the interests of the R. O. T. C. but it was stated that it would soon be available for use. A committee was appointed to take charge of this matter.

GLEE CLUB LEAVES ON TRIP NEXT WEDNESDAY

The College Glee Club will leave a week from today on the first trip of the season, through the southern section of the state. Though as yet, March 5 and 6 at Springfield and Ludlow respectively are the only dates which are certain, Manager Canty is now completing arrangements for one-night engagements in Rutland and Poultney which will probably be given on the same trip.

Rehearsals under the leadership of Professors Hathaway and Bonney have been held frequently. About 30 men will make the trip.

NEW TRUSTEES ELECTED

Acting President Collins has announced the acceptance by Hon. Charles M. Swift, Capt. Redfield Proctor and Hall P. McCullough of their election at the mid-winter meeting, January 31, as Trustees of Middlebury College. Sketches of the newly elected members will appear in a subsequent issue of The Campus Middlebury is to be congratulated upon this important addition to the membership of her Board.

CAMPUS CONSTITUTION TO BE REVISED

At a meeting of The Campus Board held Friday afternoon, Pauline Locklin and Frances Wiley were elected to the positions of associate editors. Ginsburg was chosen as a reporter.

Owing to unusual conditions which have existed this year, it has been found necessary to make some changes in the constitution of The Campus. As the members of The Board still feel that the needs of the present situation are not adequately met by the document as it now stands, they decided that steps should be taken to revise it Kasper, Swift and Dr. Lawrence will serve as a committee to draw up the new form, which will be subject to the approval of The Board.

R. O. T. C. TO BE ORGANIZED NEXT TERM

Captain Ferguson Makes Definite Plans for Course

Questionnaires To Be Issued To Men—Six Hour A Week Course

Last month Captain Ferguson of the United States Army was transferred to Middlebury College to organize a unit of the R. O. T. C. to take the place of the Students Army Training Corps. The matter was brought before the students but there was little euthusiasm for organizing such a unit here, due partly, perhaps, to the dissatisfaction which military training under the S. A. T. C. created in the college and partly to lack of information about the new system.

Since then, however, the R. O. T. C. system has been more thoroughly organized and Captain Ferguson is planning to bring the matter to the attention of the students again. Four copies of the R. O. T. C. Bulletin are being received by the college; one at the Headquarters Office, one by Dr. Collins, one at the Library, and the fourth at the union rooms. These bulletins contain complete and detailed information about every phase of the Corps A questionnaire has also been issued by the Captain which has been placed in the hands of every male student. It is issued for the purpose of finding out how many men would be qualified to join and whether the Corps would be feasible in Middlebury College.

If the result of these questionnaires is favorable, another effort will be made to organize the R. O. T. C. The unit which would be established here would be the Senior Division, which was specified by the government. Six hours a week would be devoted to the course and it would be placed in the curriculum as a two credit course on the term basis, or a three credit course on the semester basis. One hour a week would be devoted to lectures and recitations on the theoretical side of military work. The other five hours would be given up to drill on the basis of forty minutes for physical exercise or general athletics and twenty minutes for military formation. This is done to build up the physical condition of the men, which the war has shown is very poor. It is planned to train the men more thoroughly in military tactics in the optional summer camps.

Although the Senior Division requires two college years of preparatory work in the R. O. T. C. before any remuneration for services is given, there is a bill now before Congress which if passed will enable the following preliminary military work to be substituted for this basic work: (1) Service as a Commissioned Officer of the United States Army; (2) Three months' service as an enlisted man with combat troops in France or Italy; (3) Four months in the service of supply, in training camps or schools in Europe; (4) Six months in cantonments in the United States. Special cases as service in the Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, etc., will be submitted for special ruling to the Committee on Education and Special training. In addition, students who have had less than six months service in the United States (for instance, service with the S. A. T. C.), may count such service as equal, month for month, to service in the two years' R. O. T. C. course required for

Union Meetings

At the Union meeting held last Wednesday evening about sixty-five men were present. This is a disgrace and shows the utter lack of interest on the part of the majority of men as to the welfare of the college. A Union meeting should be just as important as a fraternity meeting and attendance at it should be the duty of every Middlebury man.

Instead of voicing your opinions here and there on the campus, where they will not do a bit of good but rather injure the spirit, you should come to the Union meetings and get up on your feet like a real man and say what you think. If you are not satisfied with the way things are going, get up and say so. Don't go behind somebody's back and throw mud.

You may say Union meetings are dead and you can't see wasting a good evening on them. Whose fault is it that they are dead but your own? A Union meeting should be so interesting that no one will want to miss it. What makes a meeting interesting and worth while, but good common sense discussion followed by real action?

Put the question up to yourself whether you have taken an active part in the College Union or whether you are one of those who fear a little criticism because their views might not agree with Johnny Green and therefore instead of expressing their opinions openly use the mud slinging method. If you are, make up your mind not to miss the next Union meeting. You owe it to your college and also to yourself. Everything brought up at the meetings concerns you vitally. Instead of one third of the men being at the meeting while the other two thirds are across College Street or at the movies let the attendance be 100 per cent and the meetings are bound to be lively.

Traditions And Customs

There is nothing that gives distinction to a college like its old time customs and traditions. Middlebury in past years has had a number of old customs which the students held in high esteem but during the last few years that old indifferent attitude has been getting a grip on the very life of the college, and things have been allowed to slide.

Perhaps the excuse that will be offered is that old one "the war has upset everything". This can be offered in many instances but in the majority of cases it is nothing but carelessness and indifference. From all corners of the campus you hear complaints about the lack of class distinction. It is remarked that it is hard to tell a freshman from a senior these days. Whose fault is that but the upper classmen's for failing to show the way to the freshmen? Take the small matter of leaving daily chapel. The custom of having the three classes remain seated until the seniors are out of their seats is being cast aside not only by the green freshman but also by the wise junior. During the class basketball games the lack of class cheering detracted the old time interest from the games. Inter-class rivalry is conspicuous by its absence on the hill this year. The war might be to blame for these failings but it is a poor alibi.

Granting that the above laxities are due to "King War" can we offer the same excuse for the disrespect that is being shown during the past year to the Old Chapel Bell that for years has proclaimed to the surrounding country a victory for Middlebury? A custom that in the past was a delight of all Midd men and women is being allowed to pass into oblivion like numerous others. According to the number of times the Old Bell has been rung Middlebury hasn't had a victory for many moons. When somebody feels like making a little noise the Old Bell is selected and abused.

We cannot hope to better the spirit of our college if those old customs and traditions which made her distinct in the past are allowed to die out. Instead of going around seeking after new methods to promote the spirit let us "turn to" and revive some of the old ones that have proved their worth in the past. A few shirt-tail parades, inter-class scraps and rallies at which some faculty members show themselves would have an immediate effect upon the spirit while the new schemes are being worked out. Perhaps now and then it wouldn't be out of place to give the teams a sendoff at the station or meet them after a victory or a defeat.

Poor Economy

The Old Chapel Bell will never ring unless the management of the various teams spends a few quarters for telegrams to notify the student body on what end of the score Midd is. This economy was not born during the war days but has existed in Middlebury for years. As far back as we can remember students have waited anxiously for the returns of a game only to be compelled to go to bed hoping that the morning would bring news of a Midd victory.

Whether Midd wins or loses it should be the duty of every manager to wire the college immediately. During the present basketball season, which is not an exception to any other sport, the students have never known the outcome of a game until the team arrived quietly in town. During the long waits all kinds of rumors have spread and many times the official announcement of victory has been rung with wild joy only to have another wild rumor cast gloom over the campus.

In these hard times it is indeed wrong to waste money but the money spent on notifying the student body will be far from wasted and instead will be one of the best investments the Athletic Council can make to promote the enthusiasm of the entire college.

Juniors and Seniors ATTENTION!

The individual photographs for the Kaleidoscope must be in within the next two weeks. Therefore everyone who wishes his picture in the book must communicate with Miss Hubbard or Thomas '20 immediately to give them a picture or arrange for a sitting with the photographer.

ALUMNI NOTES

'04. Edmund T. Duffield, Superintendent Public Schools, Ironwood, Mich., was elected chairman of the Conference of Superintendents of cities with a population between 15,000 and 25,000 to be held in the Louis XVI Banquet Hall, Sherman Hotel, Thursday afternoon, February 27. Mr. Duffield will speak on "War Consequence Education."

'13. Lieut. Wallace William Chalmers, recently released from a German prison where he had been for five months, has returned to his home in Fitchburg, Mass. Lieut. Chalmers enlisted in the aviation corps, having been chosen as one of a squad from the Ohio State University training school, in the early summer of 1917 In the same year he went to France and joined the 94th aero squadron. After several successful flights, he was captured in July 1918. During his confinement in the prison, he made several attempts to escape, but was recaptured each time.

'14. Benjamin W. Fisher of Vergennes spent a short time visiting the college last week. He recently received his discharge from the Aviation Corps in which he was commissioned first lieutenant. Fisher is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

'15. Miss Genivra P. Harlowe and Miss Florine M. Parker visited friends on the hill last week.

'15. Vera Arnold and Lewis Drury of Rutland, Vt., announce their engagement.

'16. "Bill" Thomas has returned from France and is spending several days in Middlebury. Bill has had some exciting times fighting the Germans, being gassed in an attack near Fismes. In addition to his sergeant's stripes "Bill" is wearing service and wound chevrons.

ex-'16. J. Edward Rourke is General Secretary of the Knights of Columbus Activities at Washington Barracks, D. C.

'18. Bessie Jennings has a position as secretary in the Bridgeport District Army Ordnance.

ex-'18. Eleanor Crane has a position in the library at Hackettstown, N. J.

ex-'18. A son, Frank J. Jr., was born recently to 2nd Lieut. and Mrs. Frank J. Mara.

ex-'18. Word has been received that Lieut. "Stan" Wright arrived in the U. S. on Saturday. He was sent to Camp Dix to be discharged and expects to reach his home in Middlebury in a few days. "Stan" was cited for bravery with the others of his aero squadron and is the proud possessor of a Buffalo Pin. The 99th Squadron was given a celebration when they landed at Philadelphia and "Stan" said the boys were all glad to be back on dry land after a rough voyage. It is hoped that he will return to finish his college course.

ex-'19. Cecil Plumb visited the college the last week-end. Plumb is an ensign in the navy, stationed near Boston Harbor, and expects to return to Midd next fall.

INTERESTING STATISTICS ON THE U. S. S. LEVIATHAN

We are publishing an interesting letter from President Thomas to his youngest son, John M. Jr., in which he describes the gigantic transport on which he is chaplain. Some of the comparisons he makes give us a fair idea of the size of the transport.

U. S. S. Leviathan,
Jan. 28, 1919.

Dear John:

You are the industrious boat-builder of our family, so I will write to you about this boat and you can tell the others what you think will interest them. A great many people have heard of the Leviathan, probably more than have read the chapter in the Bible om which she got her name (Job 41) She is so famous because she is so big—the biggest ship ever built. Her length is 964 feet, nearly 1-5 of a mile. I guess it is about as far as from Hepburn Hall out to College St. She is as wide as the gym is long. From the water line to the bottom of the keel is 41 ft., so there must be water at least that deep for her to float. She goes down so far into the water that when we left the pilot off Sandy Hook the big screws stirred up muddy water from the bottom.

The size of big ships is usually given in tons, not the number of tons they weigh, but the amount of water they displace. The tonnage of the Leviathan is 69,000, which is just about 15 times as much as that of the first ship in which I crossed the Atlantic, although that was a fair-sized ship for that time.

The Leviathan is so big she could not go through the Panama Canal, as it is not deep enough for her. She could not go under the Brooklyn Bridge without scraping off the top of her funnels. Of course it takes big engines to run such an immense boat, and down in the hold there are 46 boilers. It takes 1000 men to shovel in the coal and do the other work about the engines. In all there is a crew of 2200 men aboard. There are four big propellers, churning up the water and driving us through the ocean about as fast as an ordinary express train. As it is 3100 miles from New York to Brest, and as we make the trip in 6 days, you see we must go about 500 miles a day, or farther than from Middlebury to Washington.

The ship was built by the Germans as a fine passenger boat and was in Hoboken when the great war was declared in 1914. The Germans called her the "Vaterland." They did not dare send her to sea for fear the English would capture or sink her, so she stayed idle in Hoboken until we declared war in 1917. The German crew aboard did their best to spoil her engines. They took out essential parts which they thought could not be replaced in America, and in places they took out steel parts and put in so Babbit metal which would melt when the engines started. But our engineers studied out all their schemes in two months had everything in good shape. Carpenters took out many of the staterooms and put in iron and canvas bunks for soldiers. The Library was made into an office where there are now several officers and about twenty clerks. The Social Hall was made into a hospital, which is larger than the Porter Hospital we expect to build.

The Leviathan can carry over 10,000 soldiers each trip. The largest number in one voyage was 11,478. In all she took to France over 110,000 American soldiers before the armistice was signed. To feed the soldiers and crew the ship's bakers make 6000 loaves of bread and 3000 pies a day. All the soldiers aboard can be given a meal within 70 minutes. There is a place in a life boat or raft for every one and at the call "Abandon Ship" every one is at his station by the boats in eight minutes. We have this drill every day now, although of course we do not expect it will be necessary. There used to be 350 naval gunners for the big guns to shoot at any submarine which appeared, but I have not seen much of them this trip.

I am writing this letter in the big luxurious lounging room on the "A deck" near the bow. Over the immense fire-place is an elaborate carving of the coats of arms of the German kingdom and provinces. There are Prussia, Saxony, Bavaria, and Wurtenberg, with the provinces Baden, Hessen, Mecklenberg, and many others. In the center is the horrible eagle of the empire, with his four (not five) terrible talons on each foot. One day I piloted a half dozen French officers for their first visit to this room. I wish you could have seen their faces as they caught sight of that monstrous eagle. They laughed, then gestured it away in disgust, then there were tears as they thought what it cost to bring that eagle down, and they stood long looking at it in triumphant pride. The next day I noticed a modest French flag over the seal of Alsace-Loraine. I guess you know what that means.

With much love,
Father.

CAMPUS EXCHANGES TO BE PLACED IN LIBRARY

In response to the efforts made by The Campus Board a fairly large number of the best college papers are being sent regularly to the office. Through these it is hoped that Middlebury may keep in closer touch with other colleges and may also secure many valuable ideas from them. Since these ends cannot be accomplished through the small percentage of students who would be able, without some inconvenience, to see them at The Campus Office it has been suggested that some arrangement be made whereby they could be placed in the Starr Library Steps will be taken at once to arrange for the development of this plan and the student body is urged to make use of the papers.

Y. M. C. A. TO BE REORGANIZED BY SECRETARY GOOCH

Doubtless many of the students have been wondering why the college Y. M. C. A. has apparently passed out of existence as an organization. It was of course supplanted during the S. A. T. C. by a regular Y. M. C. A. secretary and since then it has not seemed wise to revive the old college organization. Mr. Gooch, who was the Association Secretary detailed to Middlebury is keeping in touch with the situation and under his direction it is planned to hold small classes with student leaders, studying problems of world wide interest at the present time.

USUAL GOOD TIME AT CHI PSI OPEN HOUSE

The fourth "Open House" night was observed last Thursday evening in the Chi Psi Lodge on Weybridge St. The boys all enjoyed the evening immensely and were entertained by vocal and instrumental music and informal chats. Apples and "smokes" made the atmosphere congenial to story-telling.

ALPHA SIGMA PHI HOLDS ANNUAL DANCE

The Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity held its annual dance Saturday night in the McCullough Gymnasium. There were about thirty-five couples present and everyone had a very enjoyable time.

The dance started at 7:15 with a grand march and continued until 11:45. The large gymnasium was very prettily decorated for the occasion with the fraternity colors red and black as the color scheme. Calhoun's orchestra furnished the music during the evening.

The following guests were present: Harold Tatro, D. K. E.; Roland Holbrook, K. D. R.; E. B Ross, Chi Psi; Charles Montgomery, D. U.; David J. Breen, and the following from U. V M.; Miss Elva N. Amey, F. A. Lynch, R. L. Smalley, D. O. Sprague, H. O. Atkins, B. Mascroft, P. L. Smith, R. W. Chutter, and D. Strong.

THE STUDENT VOLUNTEER BAND

Volunteers for what? Who are Volunteers? These questions have been voiced again and again on the hill as the notice of the weekly Student Volunteer meeting has been given out. To answer this question briefly and to acquaint our students with the nationwide movement of which our Band is a small part is the purpose of this article.

Today, as never before, the attention of college students is being called to the possibilities for service in many lands. The problems of reconstruction present opportunities for the investment of life which have been unequalled in the world's history. The challenge of the great task is gripping the attention of students the world over. It is in answer to this mighty challenge that eight of our undergraduates are Student Volunteers. This means simply that they are convinced that the greatest service to which their lives can be given is in some country which has not the blessings that we enjoy as a Christian nation. As registered Volunteers they have signed the declaration—"It is my purpose if God permit to become a foreign missionary", and their names are recorded at the New York Headquarters.

Just what sort of a person is the foreign missionary in 1919? Have you pictured him as an old, grey-haired, individual with a long face and a Bible under one arm whose interests in the ordinary affairs of life are limited? On the contrary, he is very much alive to world conditions and intensely interested in everything that concerns the welfare of mankind. He is simply doing over there where there is supreme need, what many others are doing in our own land. Christian college students are eminently qualified for service on the foreign field and the large majority of workers come from their ranks. In order to bring qualified students into touch with the various church Mission Boards the Student Volunteer Movement was organized in 1888. In the thirty years since then over 6500 Volunteers have reached their goal—the foreign field.

The Band here in Middlebury, although small in numbers is big in purpose and enthusiasm. At present the members are engaged in locating on a map of the world the names of the men and women from our own college who have served in other lands. This map will be placed on exhibition when fully completed. Our Band will be represented at the New York State Volunteer convention at Albany this week by two of its members.

It is hoped that hereafter no Middlebury student will cherish the idea that the (Y. W.) Cabinet is the place where the S. V. Band keep its music.

'07. C. Lisle Percy has written a very entertaining letter in regard to his Y. M. C. A. work in London, St. Albans, and elsewhere. His little daughter, Dorothea, has a successor, Thelma, born December 21.

Prof. White gave a very interesting and instructive talk to the Apollo Club, last Wednesday afternoon, in the Latin room on the subject of "The Modern Greek and How He Lives". The lecture was illustrated by slides showing places and scenes which Professor White visited on his travels through Greece. The audience was very appreciative of the talk which was given in an especially pleasing manner.

"Visions" was the subject of the talk by Professor Bryant, Thursday night at the Y. W. C. A. meeting in Pearsons social hall. He gave his idea of three visions. The first was one of the world established as a place of law and order, where people experimented to find out the difference between right and wrong. The next was a vision of a world in which people unconsciously followed right through service to others, and the last a vision of the world as conceived by Christ.

The music for the meeting was a duet by Margaret Billings and Delsey Severy, who sang "I'm a Pilgrim".

MEMBERS OF FACULTY IN CAST OF PLAY

A popular farce, "The Obstinate Family", which is to be played at the Town Hall Friday evening, February 28, for the benefit of the Women's Club of Middlebury has the following cast, Prof. R. H. White, Prof. W. S. Burrage, Mrs. A. W. Dickens, Mrs. L. J. Hathaway, Prof. L. I. Bonney, and Mrs. D. L. Robinson. The farce is to be preceded by a curtain raiser entitled "American Beauties", and there will be several musical numbers on the program.

INDIVIDUAL RECORDS WANTED BY KALEIDOSCOPE AT ONCE

The contract for the printing of the Kaleidoscope was awarded last Tuesday to the Tuttle Co., of Rutland, publishers of the book for some years. At a meeting of the Board on the following Thursday, contracts for the engravings and photographs were awarded to the Howard-Wesson Co., of Springfield, Mass., and A. W. Gove of Middlebury, respectively. All of the students at the time of their sitting for individual photographs will make a deposit of one dollar with Mr. Gove, which will cover cost of one print providing no others are desired. The contract with the Tuttle Co. provides that the first half of all the material must be in their hands by March 20 and the remainder by April 20.

Several new features relating to Middlebury's part in the World War are being considered by the Board. The book will be dedicated to the Middlebury men who gave their lives in the Service and will probably include an article on "Middlebury and the War". The Board is anxious to obtain the college records of all the members of the two upper classes at once.

REV. HEWITT TO SPEAK NEXT SUNDAY

The speaker at Sunday vespers next week will be the Rev. A. W. Hewitt. Mr. Hewitt is a poet of some note, having written a number of poems on Vermont. He is also a member of the State Board of Education and was the framer of the present school law.

PRIZE SPEAKING TO BE HELD NIGHT OF APRIL 30

The annual Prize Speaking Contests will be held this year on the evening of April 30 as a feature of Junior Week program. The Parker Contest is for freshmen and the Merrill Contest for sophomores. Four speakers contest for the two Parker prizes of $20 and $10. In the Merrill Contest eight speakers contest for four prizes of $25, $20, $15, and $10. The Parker speakers may use either declamations or orations; the Merrill speakers are limited to orations.

The speakers for both contests are chosen by preliminary contests of those interested. The preliminary contest for the Parker speakers will be held in the Old Chapel at seven o'clock on Tuesday evening, March 4, and the preliminary contest for the Merrill speakers at the same place and hour on Thursday evening, March 6. In the preliminary contests the speakers may use any kind of selection. No coaching is arranged for the preliminaries, but free training is provided for the speakers chosen to take part in the finals. All who wish to try out for places in these contests are asked to hand their names to Mr. Davison, Room 6, Painter Hall, by March 1.

The University of Toronto has resolved upon a memorial of the War which is to take two forms, (1) a Physical Memorial, and (2) Scholarships. The Physical Memorial is to be a Gothic tower with a chime of bells which will ring every day.

SECOND TEAM SNOWED UNDER BY GODDARD SEMINARY

In a game which closely resembled football, Goddard Seminary defeated Midd's second team 44-17. Their gym floor was about one third the size of ours and there were no outside lines. Other features were a trap-door under one basket and the mound of icy snow by the entrance which of course tended to make that portion of the court fairly slippery.

The first ten minutes of play were exciting as neither side scored but then came the avalanche. Due to a wreck on the Central Vermont, the team arrived in Barre at 8:15 and as the game began at 8:30, the boys had had nothing to eat since their hurried dinner in Middlebury. This likely told on them because, although playing hard and fairly they gradually weakened.

Few fouls were called and the game was without a break except in one instance. Ginsburg called "Time out, for two minutes" while he rubbed an injured wrist. This called forth a few hoots from a rather slim audience. Goddard's fast forwards, Marr and Fuller Slayton did practically all their scoring while Ginsburg was high man for Midd with three baskets.

Middites will get an opportunity to see two fast games this week when the second team will meet the Goddard Seminary in a return game on Friday night and the La Salle Institute on Saturday night in the McCullough gymnasium. Both games should be closely contested.

SELFISH INTERESTS UNDERMINING COLLEGE SPIRIT

Dr. Stevens started the discussion at the Open Forum on Friday night by defining cooperation. He said, "Cooperation is not necessarily giving up one's point of view but rather getting together with the opposing factor and finding some common elements in both view points and then concentrating on these as a working program."

For a while the discussion was of various subjects but it soon narrowed down to the most prominent factors in Middlebury's dissension, namely, the fraternities. It was clearly brought out that at the bottom of all disunion and lack of cooperation was the ever present thought of "my fraternity first and Middlebury next." This is the worst of our many faults in the Middlebury of today and has been, it was stated, the main fault in years past.

Discussion revealed the fact that if the men in college would only look at this thing broad-mindedly they would see that if it was not for the college they would have no fraternities, and they would realize that a decided change is necessary and that this change must come at once.

The fault outlined, it remained to give some possible solution. Some common cause is necessary to unite the student body and give them a common interest. There are times in the year when the whole college is united, for instance, the day of the U. V. M. game. No one thinks then of giving his own cheer or of helping his own fraternity man but it is all for Middlebury, and to win that game. What we need is a continuous U. V. M. game or something which will take its place. Since some such incentive to better college spirit seems necessary, suggestions were made as to methods of securing it. Among those discussed were the Honor System and an endeavor to get Student Government.

This coming Friday the discussion will be on "The Fundamental Purposes of College Training". It is hoped that more men will come out and make the next meeting a "peppy" one.

NINETY-NINE MIDD MEN RELEASED FROM SERVICE

Notices are coming into the War Service Committee daily from men who have been discharged from the service. To date 99 Midd men have been mustered out or released from the army and navy. Of these ninety-nine, thirty have returned to complete their courses at college. If your man's name is not among them you owe him a letter.

admission to the advanced course. The remuneration received in the last two years of service is a scholarship in the form of commutation of subsistence amounting to $120 to $140 per annum. In addition to this the student receives his uniform and equipment.

FACULTY SLEIGHING PARTY

The faculty were the first to take advantage of the ideal nights for sleighing last Wednesday evening. About five in the afternoon two sleighs of jolly faculty left the hill for East Middlebury, where they enjoyed a hearty dinner at the hotel. After dinner, the evening was spent in dancing and playing cards. As the town clocks were striking the late hour, they returned home.
